

Can you rewrite the sentence in the past tense?

To write something in the past tense we write it as something that has already happened. Usually we just add ed but there are some that are a bit more sneaky. Can you spot them?

1. Seb is painting a picture.

Yesterday Seb.....a picture.

2. Efa is opening her present.

This morning Efa.....her present.

3. Jasper is using the phone.

Last night Jasperthe phone.

4. Alice is jumping on her trampoline.

At the weekend Alice on her trampoline.

5. Athena is watching the birds.

On Sunday Athena the birds.

6. Eleanor is making a card.

Yesterday Eleanor a card.

7. Izzy was eating an apple.

At breakfast Izzy an apple.

8. Alec is hitting the tree with his stick.

Last week Alec the tree with his stick.

9. Alana is telling the children a story.

On Saturday Alana the children a story.

10. Edward is wearing his batman outfit.

Yesterday Edward _____ his batman outfit everyday.

11. Daisy is winning the running race.

On Sports Day Daisy _____ the running race.

Can you make up your own?