

Chronology

What is Chronology?

Chronology is the study of when things happened.

Events are put into the order of when they happened. This is called Chronological Order

By putting things in chronological order we can discover interesting things about an event.

To understand a story you must know what order things happened in.

In 'history' you can make up very different stories by changing the order in which things happened.

What is Chronology?

To understand a story you must know what order things happened in.

In 'history' you can make up very different stories by changing the order in which things happened.

In 'history' you can make up very different stories by changing the order in which things happened.

Activity 1 – Put these events into chronological order.

Cut out the picture and write the information underneath as they are glued into Chronological Order.

Battle Of Hastings - 1066

Romans invade Britain – 43AD

Great fire of London - 1666

Queen Victoria is born - 1819

King Charles was executed - 1649

London hosts Olympic Games - 2012

Elizabeth became Queen - 1952

Henry became King - 1509

London Bombings 2005

Michael Jackson dies - 2009

American Terrorist Attack - 2001

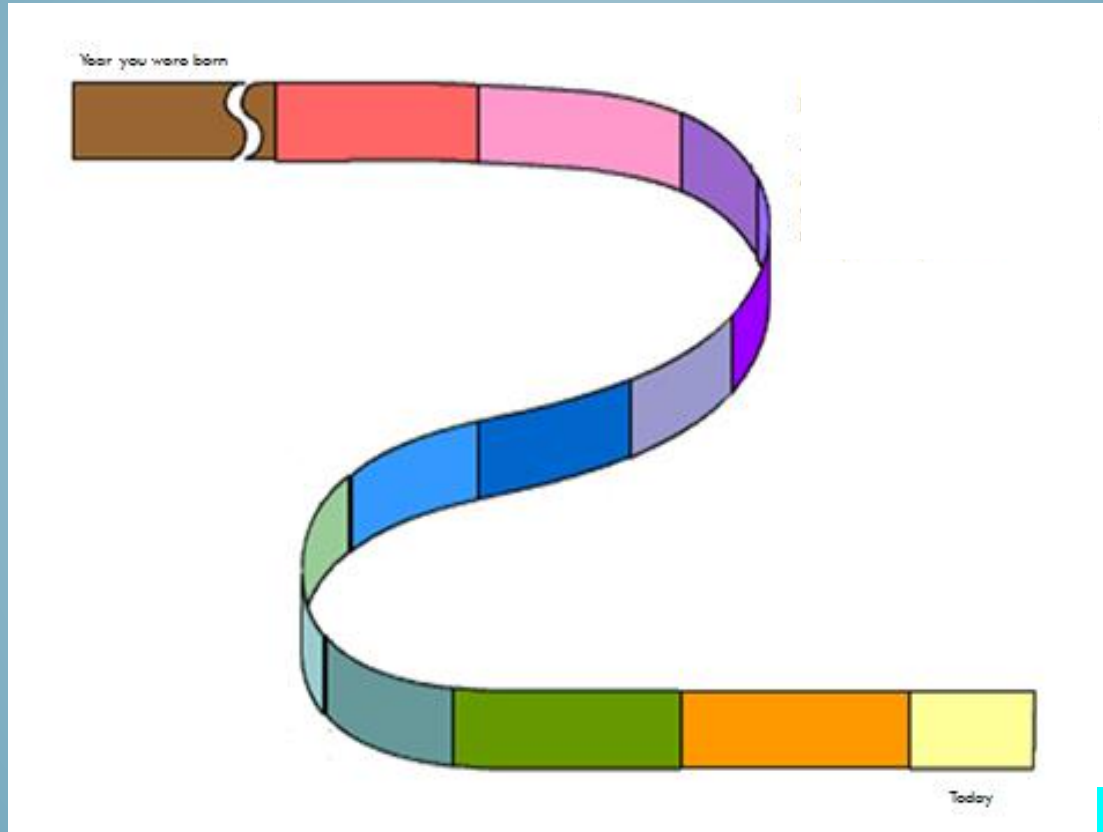

Industrial Revolution begins - 1750

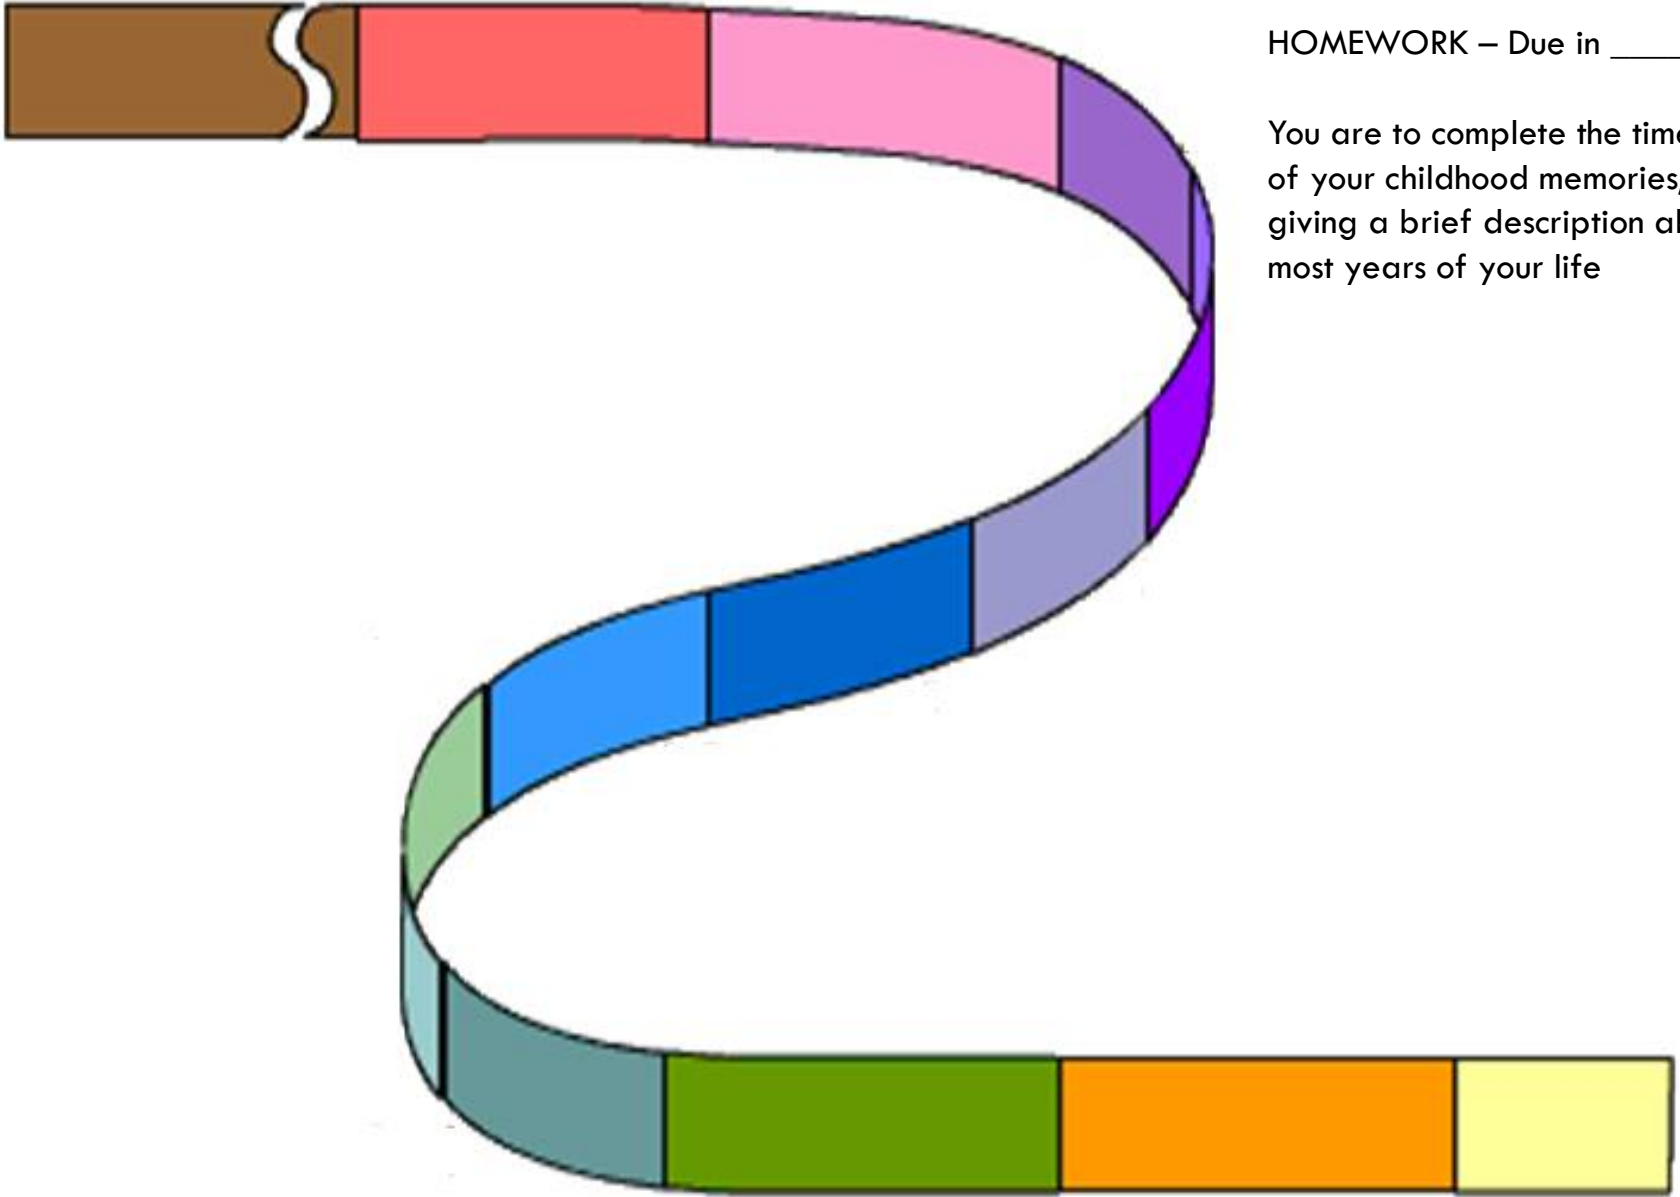

Learning Objectives

To position events into chronological order.

You are to complete the timeline of your childhood memories, giving a brief description about most years of your life

Year you were born

HOMEWORK – Due in _____

You are to complete the timeline of your childhood memories, giving a brief description about most years of your life

Today