

Artists have always tried to capture the lovely colour and beauty of flowers. Which is your favourite of these paintings? Why? How is each piece different?

Following on from Science where we have asked you to investigate flowers, we would now like you to continue looking carefully at some flowers of your choice. If you can sketch the real thing that would be great, if not try working from a photograph.

Have a go at sketching the flowers first looking very carefully at what you are drawing every few seconds. Use your pencil softly to begin with and do not worry about it being perfect. Just try your best.

Artists usually use their sketches to create a painting with later. If you want to do this or add colour that would be great.

Remember to share your work with me on J2E. (zap8)
